i shudder away from london, it's a nightmare coming home.

C#m B A

if money talks, i've pursed lips, and i've left my tongue at home

C#m B A B

past beechams' headache-free factory, it's smoking too,

C#m B A

and i'm pondering which science i'll leave my body to.

there's no reincarnation

E A

you're only human once

B A

so make yourself at home

C#m B A B

an un-sober hippy lying naked on his back, says he live in cardboard cities not out of spite but because of the fact

F#m B

that people paper over cracks

A B

in sunny retreats until their heart attacks them.

B A

i don't care for the big world out there

B A

keep me away from the window

B A

it's a small world wherever we go
